

Invitation to a seminar

An Israeli and an Iranian Talking about Nuclear Weapons

Date: Wednesday, November 9, 2022

Time: 11:00 - 12:30

Place: Room 102 and 104 Aulario Building, Via Pietro Castelli

COURSES OF HISTORY OF INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS AND SOCIOLOGY OF GLOBALIZATION

The Middle East Treaty Organization and the University of Messina invite you to a seminar on the topic of nuclear weapons, with particular focus on efforts to create a weapons of mass destruction free zone in the Middle East and North Africa.

The war in Ukraine has created a new awareness of the threats that nuclear weapons pose to the existence of human civilisation.

This seminar will explore these topics, including the humanitarian impacts of nuclear weapons and efforts to advance disarmament in the Middle East. It also provides an opportunity to learn about how to get involved and advance a world free from nuclear weapons.

Speakers:

Sharon Dolev, (Israel), Executive Director, Middle East Treaty Organization

Emad Kiyaei, (Iran), Director, Middle East Treaty Organization

Prof. Angela Villani, (Italy), Course of History of International Relations

Prof. Lidia Lo Schiavo, (Italy), Course of Sociology of Globalization
